Surrounding simplicity

Native Oklahoman K. Henderson now calls rural New Mexico home. Both locations have provided her with inspiration for her contemporary Western-themed paintings, but she also creates figurative and still life works, the latter which hold her current attention.

"I like to capture a moment in our everyday lives. There is beauty in the simple objects that surround us. I love to gather the different objects together and tell a story," says Henderson. "My goal with my paintings is to start a visual dialogue that viewers can further develop through their own viewing experience."

Working in oils, Henderson enjoys the challenge of painting the textures of wood, glass, metal, and fabric. Over the years, she has attained national attention for her paintings of silver objects and their reflections, transparent glass, vintage toys, American Indian artifacts, Western memorabilia, cowboys and cowgirls.

Henderson has received numerous honors, including more than 100 Best of Show and First Place awards in national and international juried art shows. Comments from her numerous collectors include "looking at your painting makes me feel passionate and alive."

Henderson is a member of Oil Painters of America, the International Guild of Realism, and is a Signature Member of the National Oil and Acrylic Painters' Society. ●
